Green steel

Fastmarkets' assessment of flat steel reduced carbon emissions, daily inferred, exw China was 3,190-3,710 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged from Monday.

This was assessed based on Fastmarkets' fortnightly price assessment of flat steel reduced carbon emissions differential, exw China, which calculates the premium for flat-rolled reduced carbon emissions steel over products produced from the traditional blast furnace-based route and came in at 0-500 yuan per tonne on Friday June 20.

Market chatter

"The production curb rumours boosted market sentiment and would likely underpin [steel] prices in the short term. But subdued demand in summer is set to exert downward pressure on prices, which will likely remain weak," an industry analyst in eastern China said.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded SHFE October HRC futures contract closed at 3,136 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, up by 13 yuan per tonne from the closing price of 3,123 yuan per tonne on Monday.

US domestic plate prices steady amid spotty demand

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 01 July

Plate prices in the US were stable on Tuesday July 1 with market participants reporting continued sluggish demand and lackluster spot activity in a mostly stagnant domestic market.

Fastmarkets' weekly assessment for steel cut-to-length plate carbon grade, fob mill US was $56 per hundredweight ($1,120 per short ton) on Tuesday July 1, unchanged since decreasing by 1.75% on May 20 from $57 per cwt on May 13.

Inputs were collected in a range from $54-58 per cwt, representing offers and assessments of the general spot market.

Demand for domestic plate was mostly dormant, market participants said, with sources continuing to describe a quiet spot market plagued by limited trading and persistent uncertainty over near-term direction.

"The overall [plate] market is fairly stagnant. To summarize our sense of the market, buyers feel like they are stuck in a minefield," a plate consumer said.

"If they buy now and [plate] prices fall, they will get chewed out by management for making that choice. They can refrain from buying steel and end up short [on inventory] and therefore exposed to surging prices. In this [plate] market, they are choosing inaction. I suspect this will result in a lot of last-minute, high-cost steel purchases in the third quarter," they added.

A distributor source said they believed that plate inventory levels were diminishing while hesitant buying behavior continues in the market, which they expect will lead to higher prices later in the year.

"With inventories low, we expect [the] price to increase once some [market] direction is found," the distributor said.

Sources said that the plate market will remain sluggish throughout the summer months and early in the fall, with a possible uptick in demand expected for the fourth quarter.

"Not much has changed [in the plate market] and probably won't for the next 6-8 weeks," a second distributor said. "Mills are moving to grab some orders during this current slow time. Demand [should] start to improve probably [around] September and [into] the fourth quarter."

Lead times were reported at four to five weeks, sources said.

Imported steel billet, rebar prices to the UAE decrease

By Serife Durmus - Tuesday 01 July

The prices for steel billet and rebar imported to the United Arab Emirates decreased during the week ended Tuesday July1, while local rebar prices were unchanged, sources told Fastmarkets.

Demand was not strong, not only because of the summer holiday season, but also the political uncertainty due to the tension between Iran and Israel. Following attacks by both countries mid-month, their governments agreed to a ceasefire on June 24.

But steel demand in the UAE was still not strong because of the uncertainty about what will happen next, sources said.

Domestic rebar

Emirates Steel rolled over its price for rebar at 2,652 dirhams ($722) per tonne ex-works for orders to be produced in July, unchanged since January.

The company sold rebar at 2,370-2,380 dirhams per tonne ex-works, and re-rollers in the country sold rebar at 2,220-2,240 dirhams per tonne ex-works.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, exw UAE was 2,220-2,380 dirhams per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged since June 3.

Rebar imports

Oman-origin rebar was sold at $604-611 per tonne CPT, at prices lower than the previous offers at $613-615 per tonne CPT.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE on a theoretical-weight basis was $604-611 per tonne on Tuesday, falling from $613-615 per tonne on June 24.

Billet imports

China-origin billet was offered at $450 per tonne CFR.

No new prices were heard from Oman, but market participants assessed prices would be $470-480 per tonne CFR.

Stock levels for billet were quite high, sources in the UAE said.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel billet import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE was $450-470 per tonne on July 1, falling from $460-480 per tonne on June 24.

China's domestic rebar prices suspend climb on weaker demand

By Jessica Zong - Tuesday 01 July

China's domestic rebar prices suspended the climb on Tuesday July 1 on the back of weaker demand and a dip in raw materials futures prices, sources said.

Buyers reduced procurement tonnages slightly on Tuesday due to adverse weather conditions. In some eastern Chinese cities, temperatures exceeded 37°C, while central, southwestern, and southern regions experienced rain.

The drop in coking coal futures prices also led to bearish sentiment among rebar buyers, and ultimately, weaker demand for rebar, sources said, adding that rebar buyers are planning to wait for further price developments.

The most-traded September coking coal futures contract on the Dalian Commodity Exchange closed at 814.50 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, down by 33 yuan per tonne from the the closing price of 847.50 yuan per tonne on Friday June 27.

However, low rebar inventories prevented prices from falling on Tuesday. A Shanghai-based trader told Fastmarkets that most traders were not eager to seek orders and were cautious about lowering prices.

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was at 3,000-3,020 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged from Monday.

Market Chatter

"Market participants are discussing potential restrictions on steel production in Tangshan, a major steel production hub in North China, to improve air quality. This speculation is seen as a factor that support steel prices while pushing down raw materials prices in the futures market today. However, these discussions have not been confirmed by the Tangshan municipal government or local steel mills. Therefore, I don't believe it will have a significant impact on the spot market," an industry analyst said.

Billet

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel billet domestic, exw Tangshan, Northern China was 2,900 yuan per tonne including value-added tax on Tuesday, down by 10 yuan per tonne from 2,910 yuan per tonne on Monday.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded October rebar futures contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange closed at 3,003 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, up by 6 yuan per tonne from the closing price of 2,997 yuan per tonne on Monday.
