Market sources maintained their estimates of the best HRC offers from larger, state-owned mills unchanged at base prices of $455-465 per tonne FOB.

Green steel

Fastmarkets' assessment of flat steel reduced carbon emissions, daily inferred, exw China was 3,230-3,740 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, down by 10 yuan per tonne from 3,240-3,750 yuan per tonne on Monday.

This was assessed based on Fastmarkets' fortnightly price assessment of flat steel reduced carbon emissions differential, exw China, which calculates the premium for flat-rolled reduced carbon emissions steel over products produced from the traditional blast furnace-based route and came in at 0-

550 yuan per tonne on Friday July 4.

Market chatter

"Euphoria over a possible capacity reduction following Beijing's vow to rein in excess competition is further dissipating [this week]. [Chinese] steel prices are under greater downward pressure with demand further slowing down [due to seasonal factors]," an industry analyst in eastern China said.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded SHFE October HRC futures contract closed at 3,191 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged from Monday's close.

US domestic plate prices fall on soft demand, limited trading

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 08 July

Plate prices in the US declined on Tuesday July 8, with market participants reporting ongoing sluggish demand and minimal spot activity in a quiet domestic market.

Fastmarkets' weekly assessment for steel cut-to-length plate carbon grade, fob mill US was $55 per hundredweight ($1,100 per short ton) on Tuesday, down by 1.79% from $56 per cwt on July 1.

Inputs were collected in a range of $52-58 per cwt, representing offers and general assessments of the spot market.

The domestic plate market was quiet, with sources reporting stagnant demand and minimal spot trading contributing to the downward price trajectory in the week following the Independence Day holiday on Friday July 4.

"We had talked to some of the steel [plate] mill representatives about their order books. All are saying that order entry has slowed down from two to three weeks earlier," a plate buyer said.

A distributor shared a similar view, saying, "Demand [is] still soft, but I don't expect [domestic] plate mills to lower [transaction] prices from where they are today. [It] won't spur activity, so [they will] keep bumping along until demand gets better — probably [in] September [or at the] start of [the] fourth quarter."

"Otherwise, [it is a] pretty boring market at the moment," the distributor said.

Market participants expect demand to rebound late in the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter, with inventories reportedly running low as cautious spot buying continues in the plate market.

"The [plate] market is certainly at its annual summer ebb. I see a tough third quarter ahead for steel plate buyers," a second buyer said. "Inventory levels are incredibly low, [and] tariffs make imported steel both expensive and risky. Large orders are, for now, few and far between as customers focus on minimum purchase requirements to get existing jobs done. We're looking forward to September."

"[It is] very quiet overall on the plate side," a second distributor said. "We do expect some pickup [in demand] in the fourth quarter, but that might be optimistic."

Lead times were at four to five weeks, according to sources.
