China's finished steel exports rise m-o-m in May

By Jessica Zong - Tuesday 09 June

China's finished steel exports increased in May compared with April but fell compared with the same period a year earlier, according to data published by General Administration of Customs of China (GACC) on Tuesday June 9.

China's finished steel exports in May 2026 vs. April 2026 and vs. May 2025

China's finished steel exports (million tonnes)
May 2026	10.34
April 2026	10.58
May 2025	9.50
Source: China General Administration of Customs

The month-on-month increase in May was attributed to new orders placed in March and April, which were shipped in May. During that period, the international steel supply was constrained due to the absence of Iranian cargoes, allowing Chinese exporters to secure more orders, according to market participants.

"New orders for finished steel have decreased since May due to price volatility in China's domestic market," a China-based exporter said.

Fastmarkets' daily assessment for steel hot-rolled coil domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was 3,510-3,530 yuan ($518-521) per tonne on May 11, marking a year-to date high, but it fell by 100-110 yuan per tonne to 3,410-3,420 yuan per tonne on May 29.

"Both Chinese exporters and international importers prefer a stable price trend to finalize deals. However, steel prices in May fluctuated frequently," a second exporter based in China said.

During the first five months of the year, China exported 44.55 million tonnes of finished steel, marking an 8.1% decline compared to the 48.47 million tonnes exported during the same period a year ago.

"The lower export figures in the first five months have exerted downward pressure on China's steel prices, especially during the seasonally weak demand period," an industry analyst said.

Imports of finished steel fell in May on a month-on-month and year-on-year basis.

China's imports totaled 2.26 million tonnes in the first five months of 2026, down by 12.2% from 2.57 million tonnes in the same period a year earlier.

Steel plate news

US domestic steel plate prices stable amid solid demand

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 09 June

US plate prices were steady week on week on Tuesday June 9, with sources reporting continued strong demand, while also describing supply tightness and depleted buyer inventory levels in the domestic plate market.

Fastmarkets' weekly assessment for steel cut-to-length plate carbon grade, fob mill US was $67 per hundredweight ($1,340 per short ton) on Tuesday, flat week on week after going up by $1.00 per cwt, or 1.52%, from $66 per cwt on May 19.

Inputs were collected in a range of $64-69 per cwt, representing indications of the general spot market.

Steelmaker SSAB Americas raised plate prices by $40 per ton ($2 per cwt) in a customer letter on June 8, an upward price move that sources said has not yet been reflected in the market.

A distributor said that higher domestic prices may open the door for imported plate to flood back into the market.

"If [domestic mills] keep the [price] increases up, we'll be seeing imports pretty soon. I do think prices are getting almost high enough to allow imports to reenter the market," the distributor said. "The mills need to show restraint. It's bad for the industry and worse for the market."

While demand for domestic plate is solid, buyer inventories are shrinking, and supply is expected to further constrict in the late summer and fall due to multiple mill maintenance shutdowns, according to a second distributor.

"We expect demand to stay constant — it is good," the second distributor said. "Stock levels are diminishing and we fully expect supply to get worse in the August to September timeframe with all the [mill] shutdowns. [It] will probably get real bad."

Lead times are at six to eight weeks, sources said.

SSAB Americas raises steel plate prices by $40 per ton

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 09 June

SSAB Americas, the North American division of Swedish steelmaker SSAB, announced a price increase of $40 per short ton ($2 per hundredweight) on all plate products in customer letter on Monday June 8.

The increase will be "effective on all new non-contract orders confirmed to ship August 2, 2026, and beyond," the letter said.

SSAB last raised plate prices by $40 per short ton ($2 per cwt) on May 11.

US plate prices were stable on June 2, with most market participants reporting solid demand and spot activity amid low inventory levels and a tightening supply chain in the domestic plate market.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel cut-to-length plate, carbon grade, fob mill US, was $67 per hundredweight ($1,340 per short ton) on June 2, flat from May 26 but up by $1.00 per cwt, 1.52%, from $66 per cwt on May 19.

Rebar news

UAE domestic, imported rebar stable; Asian imports anchor steel billet prices

By Hristo Rimpopov - 09 Jun 2026

The domestic and imported steel rebar markets in the United Arab Emirates (UAE) remained stable during the week to Tuesday June 9, with prices holding firm following previous increases. The import steel billet market also held steady week on week, with transaction levels anchored by competitive volumes from Asia, sources told Fastmarkets.

Domestic rebar

Indications for local rebar prices in the UAE were reported at 2,750-2,850 dirhams ($749-776) per tonne ex-works, unchanged from June 2. One market source noted that the rebar market was on a steady footing.

"Rebar prices are fixed for the month", another source noted.

Two other sources said that buyers have accepted the higher prices announced by local mills in late May. The largest domestic producer increased its official rebar offer price for June by 100 dirhams per tonne to 2,821 dirhams per tonne ex-works, sources told Fastmarkets on May 21, with a trader linking this to a "surge in input costs, especially freight and logistics expenses".

While the mill typically gives discounts to buyers after announcing official levels, other local re-rollers quickly adjusted their tradeable levels upward to match the new market reality.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\), domestic, exw UAE was 2,750-2,850 dirhams per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged week on week.

Rebar imports

Prices for imported rebar into the UAE held steady at $750-770 per tonne CPT, unchanged from June 2.

Two market participants reported these levels as indicative for shipments from the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) region. Last week, two other sources told Fastmarkets that actual transactions had been concluded within the same range, involving a major regional supplier from Oman.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\) import, cpt Jebel Ali, UAE was $750-770 per tonne on Tuesday June 9, unchanged week on week.

Billet imports

Fastmarkets' assessment of imported steel billet into the UAE held steady this week.

Sources at two producers from the GCC region indicated billet prices at $620-640 per tonne CPT. However, four other market participants, notably among them a source from a regional mill, told Fastmarkets that these levels were higher than offers from Asia.

"Billet prices may vary, but right now are between $570-580 per tonne CPT", one of the sources noted.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel billet import, cpt Jebel Ali, UAE was $570-580 per tonne on Tuesday June 9, unchanged week on week.

China domestic rebar prices drop following early futures weakness

By Jessica Zong - Tuesday 09 June

Domestic steel rebar prices in China continued their downward trajectory on Tuesday June 9, driven by losses in the futures market earlier in the day and sellers' need to destock, sources told Fastmarkets.

The most-traded October rebar futures contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange initially dropped to a daily low of 3,142 yuan ($464) per tonne before managing to recover some of the losses. This represented a decrease of 15 yuan per tonne compared to Monday's closing price of 3,157 yuan per tonne, exerting downward pressure on spot rebar prices in the market.

At the same time, sellers were actively offloading their rebar inventories on Tuesday to mitigate potential losses anticipated during the upcoming rainy season. This increased supply in the market, which further contributed to the decline in rebar prices.

A trader based in Shanghai noted that sellers are increasingly concerned about a potential reduction in end-user demand and a further drop in prices during the latter half of June, when the rainy season begins in many regions of eastern China.

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\) domestic, ex-whs Eastern China, was 3,110-3,140 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, down by 10 yuan per tonne from 3,120-3,150 yuan per tonne on Monday.

Market chatter

"The domestic price drop causes lower purchase costs for rebar exporters and this led to lower export offers. But international buyers keep quiet and submitted no [bids]. Deals are hard to conclude," an exporter based in eastern China said.

Fastmarkets' calculation of steel reinforcing bar (rebar) index export, fob China main port was at $507.83 per tonne on Tuesday, down by $2.80 per tonne from $510.63 per tonne a week earlier on June 2.

Billet

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel billet domestic, exw Tangshan, Northern China, was 3,020 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged from Monday.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded October rebar futures contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange closed at 3,156 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, down by 1 yuan per tonne from the closing price of 3,157 yuan per tonne on Monday.
