Steel plate news

US domestic plate prices steady in muted market

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 15 July

Plate prices in the US were stable on Tuesday July 15, with sources reporting limited spot trading and middling demand in a stagnant domestic market.

Fastmarkets' weekly assessment for steel cut-to-length plate carbon grade, fob mill US was $55 per hundredweight ($1,100 per short ton) on Tuesday, steady from July 8 and down by 1.79% from $56 per cwt on July 1.

Inputs were collected in a range of $52.50-56.00 per cwt, representing offers and assessments of the general spot market.

Demand for domestic plate was tepid, market participants told Fastmarkets, with sources continuing to illustrate a stagnant market plagued by sluggish spot activity.

"Demand is still weak and nothing [is] expected to improve for several months," a plate distributor said. "[The market is] pretty boring right now."

A second distributor said that domestic mills are willing to make deals for large-tonnage orders in an effort to fill order books for August, as hesitant buyers continue to only purchase as necessary amid persistent market uncertainty.

The second distributor anticipates that plate prices will rise at the end of the third quarter and beginning of the fourth quarter as demand begins to improve.

"[Domestic] plate mills [are] looking to fill August [order books] then 'raise' the price for September. [I'm] not sure [the mills] can send out an announcement, as the current published [plate] price is so irrelevant, but just [to] draw a line in the sand," the second distributor said. "[Plate mills are] making deals to fill August [order books], so consumers buy now at a discount and then [the mills will] raise the price for September."

A third distributor shared a similar view, also expecting an increase in prices as plate inventory levels are being depleted amid continued cautious buying behavior in the market.

"Inventories are very low across the board. Once the market picks up, we are expecting prices to rise quickly," the third distributor said. "Overall, we continue to move tons, but margins are tighter and demand is spotty."

Lead times were reported at three to five weeks, sources said.

Rebar news

UAE importers place new billet, rebar orders from Indonesia, Oman

By Serife Durmus - Tuesday 15 July

Importers in the United Arab Emirates (UAE) placed orders from Indonesia and Oman over the past seven days, sources told Fastmarkets on Tuesday July 15.

Demand was moderate in the country for long steel products, and stock levels were not high, sources said.

Domestic rebar

Emirates Steel rolled over its price for rebar at 2,652 dirhams ($722) per tonne ex-works for orders to be produced in July, unchanged since January.

The company sold rebar at 2,370-2,380 dirhams per tonne ex-works, and re-rollers in the country sold rebar at 2,220-2,240 dirhams per tonne ex-works.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\), domestic, exw UAE was 2,220-2,380 dirhams per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged since January 3.

Rebar imports

Oman-origin rebar was sold at $604-615 per tonne CPT during the past seven days.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\), import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE on a theoretical-weight basis was $604-615 per tonne on July 15, widening upward from $604-611 per tonne on July 8.

Billet imports

China-origin billet was offered at $450 per tonne CFR.

Iran-origin billet was on offer at $445-450 per tonne CFR UAE.

Oman-origin billet was offered at $470-480 per tonne CPT UAE.

Indonesia-origin billet was booked at $460 per tonne CFR for a total of 80,000 tonnes.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel billet, import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE was $445-470 per tonne on Tuesday, widening downward from $450-470 per tonne on July 8.

China's domestic rebar prices decrease amid lackluster real estate data

By Jessica Zong - Tuesday 15 July

China's domestic rebar prices fell on Monday July 15, with disappointing data on residential construction exacerbating bearish sentiment, sources told Fastmarkets.

China's new housing start construction area totaled 303.64 million square meters in the first half of 2025, down by 20% from 380.23 million square meters in the same period of last year, according to data published by the country's National Bureau of Statistics (NBS).

The housing slump has darkened demand expectations for long steel, dragging rebar prices lower, sources said.

Additionally market participants doubted the chances of a second-half recovery and foresee rebar demand remaining below 2024 levels.

A Shanghai-based analyst added that the gloomy outlook triggered a selloff in rebar futures contract, which curbed spot-market buying interest.

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\) domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was 3,100-3,120 yuan ($432-435) per tonne on Tuesday, down by 10 yuan per tonne from 3,110-3,130 yuan per tonne on Monday July 14.

Nucor, SDI, Gerdau, Deacero raise US prices for beams, MBQ by $40/ton

By Robert England - Tuesday 15 July

US-based steelmakers Nucor, Gerdau Long Steel North America, Steel Dynamics Inc and Deacero's Mid-Continent Steel and Wire all raised published offer prices for steel beams and merchant bar quality (MBQ) by $40 per short ton ($2 per hundredweight), effective with new orders received on Monday July 14.

Nucor led the latest round of price increases on Friday July 11.

"All confirmed orders as of the close of business on July 11, 2025, will be price-protected if shipped by July 25, 2025," Nucor said in separate notices to customers for beams and MBQ.

Gerdau sent out beam and MBQ price increase notices on Monday, offering price protection for all confirmed orders at the close of business on Friday, provided they are shipped by July 25.

Mid-Continent also announced increases on Monday, with price protection for beam and MBQ orders placed on Friday if shipped by July 27.

Previously, the four mills increased beam prices by $25 per ton, effective with new orders received on April 14.

Before that, mills increased prices for beams by $35 per ton and separately increased prices for MBQ by $40 per ton on March 14.

Fastmarkets' monthly price assessment for steel beams 8 x 8-inch, fob mill US was $66.25 per cwt ($1,325 per ton) on June 26, unchanged since April 24.

Fastmarkets' monthly price assessment for steel bar 2 x 2 x 1/4-inch angle merchant products, fob mill US was $53.30 per cwt on June 27, unchanged since March 28.

Mexican prime ferrous scrap prices fall, widening busheling gap with US

By Evan Pfab - Tuesday 15 July

Most ferrous scrap prices retreated in Bajio and Monterrey on Tuesday July 15, while heavy melt and shredded scrap were sideways.

Plate and structural scrap had the steepest drop in both regions. Fastmarkets assessed the steel scrap cut structural/plate 3ft max, consumer buying price, delivered mill Bajio at 5,000 pesos ($266) per tonne on Tuesday. The corresponding assessment delivered mill Monterrey was 5,800 pesos per tonne. Both dropped by 300 pesos per tonne from the previous week.

Busheling prices also fell during the week ended Friday July 11.

Fastmarkets assessed the steel scrap No1 busheling, consumer buying price, delivered mill Monterrey at 6,300 pesos per tonne on Tuesday, down from 6,500 pesos per tonne on July 8.

In comparison, the assessment for steel scrap No1 busheling, consumer buying price, delivered mill Houston was $390 per gross ton (7,158 pesos per tonne) on July 3 — a gap of nearly 900 pesos per tonne between Mexican and US markets, which serves as a motivator for sellers to export their material to the US whenever possible, according to an export source.

Meanwhile, scrap prices in Mexico were mostly steady or declining throughout June across most grades.

One seller in the region said local supply-demand conditions were weighing more heavily on the market than broader trade policy shifts.
