US domestic plate prices increase amid recent mill price hikes, robust demand

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 24 February

Steel plate prices in the US rose for a fourth straight week on Tuesday February 24, as the market widely accepted and absorbed recent mill price increases and sources describing steadily strengthening demand and trading in the domestic market.

Fastmarkets' weekly assessment for steel cut-to-length plate carbon grade, fob mill US was $57 per hundredweight ($1,140 per short ton) on Tuesday, up by 1.79%, or $1.00 per cwt, from $56 per cwt on February 17.

Inputs were collected in a range from $54-58 per cwt, representing offers and assessments of the general spot market.

The domestic plate market has experienced a resurgence in the first quarter of the year, with sources across-the-board reporting robust demand and strong spot trading.

Recent mill price increases from Nucor and SSAB have been widely accepted by the market, sources said, with most market participants expecting further increases in the near term alongside steadily rising demand.

Nucor announced a plate price increase of $50 per ton ($2.50 per cwt) in a letter to customers on February 13, followed by SSAB with an increase of $60 per ton ($3.00 per cwt) in a customer letter on February 16.

"Demand continues to be strong, with the market accepting all the recent price increases. We expect the demand to continue [trending upward], with more price increases to follow in the future," a distributor said.

"It feels like demand is steadily increasing, [and] I think the [recent] price increases will be accepted because of lack of supply, especially imports," a buyer said. "The Supreme Court ruling on IEEPA does little to quell the concerns with tariffs and uncertainty from this administration."

A second buyer shared a similar view, saying, "Demand is strong and there are minimal imports available. With multi-month lead times, who wants to take the risk of placing big bets when tariff rules are so unsettled? You get the sense that the administration would not look too kindly on any nation attempting to flood the market with any sort of products. Do you want to order now and find that you are paying tariffs higher than 50% because of yet another change? I don't want that risk."

The second buyer added, "The market seems significantly stronger than at any time since April of last year. We're seeing customers returning to both more frequent orders and ordering larger amounts on each order. That is indicative of restocking after a long period of working down their inventories."

Lead times were at six to eight weeks, according to sources.

Rebar news

UAE rebar prices stable; new bookings expected soon

By Ivelina Nikolova - Tuesday 24 February

Prices for domestic and imported rebar in the United Arab Emirates (UAE) remained stable in the week to Tuesday February 24, with higher offers heard in the market, but no new deals concluded yet, market participants told Fastmarkets on Tuesday February 24.

Steel billet import prices decreased slightly, although no major changes were reported during the week, with Chinese markets only just returning from the Lunar New Year holidays.

Domestic rebar

On Monday February 23, Emirates Steel, the UAE's leading steel producer, increased its official rebar offer for March orders in the local market to 2,721 dirhams ($741) per tonne ex-works, up by $20 from 2,648 dirhams per tonne ex-works a month earlier, market sources said, linking this decision to strong local demand. No new deals were heard yet, as the supplier usually gives discounts to buyers.

Latest deals from Emirates Steel were heard at 2,540-2,550 dirhams per tonne ex-works for February orders, unchanged from January levels. Other mills were supplying rebar mainly at 2,360-2,390 dirhams per tonne ex-works for the same period, industry sources said.

"For now, prices remain as before," a trader told Fastmarkets on Tuesday, with increases likely to come after Emirates Steel raised its official offer but other major suppliers have not yet announced their prices, expected in the coming days.

Strong demand and good rebar prices in the UAE have attracted foreign suppliers in recent months, mainly from Saudi Arabia, Oman, China and India, according to a UAE-based certification agency.

Further market expansion include Azizi Developments, a private real estate developer in the country, accelerating work on its new high-speed rebar rolling mill in Abu Dhabi. The plant is expected to reach capacity of 600,000 tonnes per year, producing 8-16mm rebar in coils and 8-50mm straight length rebar. It is not yet confirmed if the products will be sold into the local market or used mainly for the company's own projects.

Oman-based producer Al Jazeera Steel also restarted its rebar production in January, Fastmarkets heard, although its focus remains merchant bar. According to information published by the steelmaker, demand for construction products in the UAE is expected to grow continuously, with the real estate sector projected to reach \$132 billion by 2030.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\), domestic, exw UAE was 2,360-2,550 dirhams per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged from February 17.

Rebar imports

Industry sources assessed rebar import prices on the same levels as previous week, based on the latest February deals in the range of $629-665 per tonne CPT.

New offers from mills in Oman, Qatar and Saudi Arabia are expected soon, likely following movements in the UAE domestic rebar market.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar \(rebar\) import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE was $629-665 per tonne on Tuesday, unchanged since January 27.

Billet imports

Offers from Indonesia to the UAE were heard in the range of $470-485 per tonne CFR, decreasing from previous offers at $480-495 per tonne CFR.

Market sources reported latest levels mainly at $455 per tonne FOB, equivalent to around $480-485 per tonne CFR with freight of $25-30 per tonne, while other offers from the same origin were heard at $470-485 per tonne CFR on February 24.

No new offers came from China due to the Lunar New Year holidays from February 16-23. Latest offers before the holiday were heard at $473 per tonne CFR on February 10.

"Chinese are just coming back today, and I think next week we will see some action," a trader told Fastmarkets on Tuesday. A second trader said they were also looking forward to Chinese suppliers returning to the market.

Bids for billet in the UAE were heard at $460 per tonne CFR, similar to the previous week's levels at $460-465 per tonne CFR.

Demand for steel billet in the UAE has been “slow” and “not good”, according to the second trader.

Fastmarkets’ weekly price assessment for steel billet, import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE was $460-480 per tonne on Tuesday, down by $5 per tonne from $465-485 per tonne on February 17.

China's domestic rebar prices rise on post-holiday restocking demand

By Jessica Zong - Tuesday 24 February

China’s domestic rebar prices rose on Tuesday February 24 on the back of healthy restocking demand, sources said.

Some traders and end users raised procurement tonnages to restock their inventories, according to sources.

The stronger demand drove rebar prices slightly, though many sellers kept prices at the pre-holiday levels, sources said.

Buyers rejected any price hikes, against the backdrop of weaker futures prices, a trader based in east China said.

Fastmarkets’ daily price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was at 3,070-3,090 yuan ($446-449) per tonne on Tuesday, widening upward by 10 yuan per tonne from 3,070-3,080 yuan per tonne on Friday February 13.

Market Chatter

“The divergence in price trends between the domestic spot and futures markets has created uncertainty for international rebar importers, subsequently leading to reduced transaction activity in China's export market. But rebar export prices rose on the appreciation of the Chinese yuan,” an exporter based in China said.

Fastmarkets’ calculation for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) index export, fob China main port was $479.17 per tonne on February 24, up by $1.21 per tonne from $477.96 per tonne on February 10.

Billet

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel billet domestic, exw Tangshan, Northern China was 2,900 yuan per tonne including value-added tax on Tuesday, unchanged from February 13.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded May rebar futures contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange closed at 3,027 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, down by 28 yuan per tonne from the closing price of 3,055 yuan per tonne on February 13.

The last confirmed trade in the region was priced at $455 per tonne CFR Manila in early February for around 20,000 tonnes of 5sp-grade billet, purportedly by a major Filipino roller.

Bids were last reported at $445 per tonne CFR Indonesia for 1sp-grade billet, $448 per tonne CFR Indonesia for 3/4sp-grade billet and $450 per tonne CFR Indonesia and Manila for 5sp-grade billet.

A major Indonesian blast-furnace (BF) steelmaker has not adjusted its offer price of $455 per tonne FOB for steel billet with April-laycan since the holidays.

Smaller privately-owned steel mills in China have kept export offers largely unchanged on the first day back after the Lunar New Year, although a domestic billet producer in Tangshan lowered its offer by 10 yuan ($1.45) per tonne to 2,880 yuan per tonne on Tuesday on account of lower steel futures prices.

Fastmarkets' twice-weekly price assessment for steel billet, import, cfr Manila was $455 per tonne on Tuesday February 24, unchanged from February 19.

Fastmarkets' corresponding price assessment for steel billet, import, cfr Indonesia was $450-455 per tonne on Tuesday, also unchanged from February 19.
