US domestic plate prices steady amid stable market demand

By Melissa VanDervort - Tuesday 29 April

Plate prices in the US were unchanged on Tuesday April 29, with the majority of sources reporting solid demand in the domestic plate market. Fastmarkets' weekly assessment for steel cut-to-length plate carbon grade, fob mill US was $58 per hundredweight ($1,160 per short ton) on Tuesday, flat from April 22 and up by 1.75% from $57 per cwt on April 15.

Inputs were collected in a range of $56-63 per cwt, representing deals, offers and assessments of the general spot market.

The domestic plate market is stable, with most sources reporting steady demand.

"Our demand has been steady, and it seems as if pricing has stabilized for now," a distributor said. "We expect things to continue [this way] into the summer months. All in all, material continues to move [and our] margins are okay."

"Demand has remained steady, [but] not much has changed over the last week," a second distributor said.

A third distributor source disagreed, saying that demand is waning in the lead-up to the summer season — although he is expecting an uptick in the second half of 2025.

"We have seen a pullback in demand [in the plate market]. Many customers [are] telling us that the back half of the year looks to be strong, but currently demand is not very good," the third distributor said. "Plate mills and service centers alike [are] just trying to bridge the gap between now and then and getting through the slower summer months."

The third distributor continued, saying, "Otherwise, [it's been] another boring week and [that] doesn't look to change much anytime soon. Maybe by August, we'll see the pick-up in real demand [in the plate market]."

Lead times remain at four to five weeks, according to sources.

Rebar news

UAE billet prices increase; rebar prices down

By Serife Durmus - Tuesday 29 April

Imported billet prices to the United Arab Emirates increased during the week ended Tuesday April 29, while rebar prices decreased, sources told Fastmarkets.

Weak scrap prices were the reason for decreasing rebar prices, sources said.

Fastmarkets' weekly steel scrap sheared HMS 1&2 (80:20 mix), index, domestic, delivered UAE was calculated at 1,187.91 dirhams ($323) per tonne on April 29, down from 1,221.56 dirhams per tonne on April 22.

Emirates Steel, the UAE's biggest rebar producer, rolled over its rebar price for May orders.

Billet imports

China-origin billet was heard offered at $465-471 per tonne CFR, up from previous offers at $460 per tonne CFR.

No major deals were heard.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel billet, import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE was $465-468 per tonne on April 29, up from $448-460 per tonne on April 22.

Rebar imports

Oman-origin rebar was heard sold at $610-611 per tonne CPT during the past seven days at prices lower than previous offers at $615-620 per tonne CFR.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar), import, cfr Jebel Ali, UAE on a theoretical-weight basis was $610-611 per tonne on Tuesday, down from $615-620 per tonne on April 22.

Domestic rebar

Emsteel sold rebar at 2,400 dirhams per tonne ex-works during the past seven days, and re-rollers in the country sold rebar at 2,210-2,240 dirhams per tonne ex-works.

Fastmarkets' weekly price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar), domestic, exwhs Eastern China, was 2,210-2,400 dirhams per tonne on April 29, widening downward from 2,230-2,400 dirhams per tonne on April 22.

China's domestic rebar prices fall amid slight growth in demand

By Jessica Zong - Tuesday 29 April

China's domestic rebar prices fell on Tuesday April 29, following a dip in futures prices, though demand rose slightly, sources told Fastmarkets.

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel reinforcing bar (rebar) domestic, ex-whs Eastern China was 3,080-3,100 yuan ($424-427) per tonne on Tuesday, down by 10 yuan per tonne from 3,090-3,110 yuan per tonne on Monday.

Optimism surrounding the easing in monetary policy waned on Tuesday, leading to a decline in rebar futures prices, according to sources.

Sellers in the spot market who were seeking to reduce inventories lowered rebar prices to secure more orders ahead of a five-day Labor Day holiday from May 1-5 in China.

End users continued to purchase rebar actively on Tuesday, with some trading houses also buying additional rebar cargo to replenish their inventories, which led to higher sales volumes compared with that on Monday, sources said.

A trader based in Shanghai told Fastmarkets that certain grades of rebar were running low on stock in some trading houses' warehouses, with these trading houses purchasing more rebar over the past few days.

Some steel mills raised billet production rates due to the strong export demand, while simultaneously reducing rebar production rates, sources said.

This led to expectations among market participants that insufficient inventories of certain grades of rebar could persist for at least a few weeks and provide some support for rebar prices, an industry analyst said.

Market Chatter

"The demand for rebar is expected to decline on Wednesday due to the upcoming holiday period. Buyers have already secured sufficient rebar cargoes to cover their needs during the holiday period. And they do not intend to build up substantial inventories, as they are uncertain about the price trends following the holiday," a second trader based in Shanghai said.

Billet

Fastmarkets' daily price assessment for steel billet domestic, exw Tangshan, Northern China was 3,000 yuan per tonne including value-added tax on Tuesday, unchanged from Monday.

Shanghai Futures Exchange

The most-traded October rebar futures contract on the Shanghai Futures Exchange closed at 3,100 yuan per tonne on Tuesday, down by 29 yuan per tonne from the closing price of 3,129 yuan per tonne on Monday.
